A line drawing of a door with a handle and a lock, set within a frame. The door has a handle and a lock, and is shown in a slightly open position. The frame is simple and rectangular.

This architectural drawing shows the front elevation of a building. It features a gabled roof with a dashed line indicating the peak. The facade is composed of a large, plain rectangular section on the right and a smaller, more detailed section on the left. This left section contains a door with a transom window above it, both featuring decorative grid patterns. The entire structure is framed by a simple border.

WOOD CLG

WOOD CLG

A simple line drawing of a building facade. It features a large rectangular window on the left and a door on the right. The door has a small handle and a lock. The building is represented by a few simple lines, suggesting a minimalist architectural style.

A line drawing of a door with a handle, labeled "WOOD SEAT". The door has a six-pane design with two vertical rectangular panes in the center and four smaller square panes at the top. A small black dot represents the handle. The label "WOOD SEAT" is written in a box to the right of the door.

The diagram shows a window on the left with a closed shutter, indicated by a small black dot. To the right of the window is a radiator with a label that reads "HEAT".
